DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-3 and 7-24 are pending in this application.

Oath/Declaration

2. The supplemental oath/declaration filed 10/23/2007 was approved.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 1-3, 7-11 and 15-16 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Giovale (US Publication No. 2002/0095820) in view of Zock, Jr. (US 4,910,883). Giovale discloses an athletic shoe, comprising: an upper; a sole coupled to the upper; the sole comprising a carbon portion (extender bar 16) and a titanium portion coupled to the carbon portion (toe piece 12 and heel piece 14); the titanium portion including a perimeter; and an outer wall extending from the bottom along the perimeter; a plurality of holes in the titanium portion; and at least one of the plurality of holes resides in the toe section of the sole and at least one other of the plurality of holes resides in a heel section of the sole, such that the at least one hole in the toe section acts as an air intake and the at least one other hole in the heel section acts as an air exhaust. See Figure 1 embodiment.

Art Unit: 3728

With respect to the outer wall, note the outer rim (upwardly extending slotted tabs 26a & 26b and heel bales 42a & 42b) in Figure 2 embodiment which forms an outer wall extending from the bottom along the perimeter. Giovale does not appear to disclose the outer wall extending from the bottom along at least a substantial portion of the perimeter. Zock discloses that it is desirable to provide tabs/bales forming an outer wall which extend from the bottom along at least a substantial portion of the perimeter to provide better stability. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the tab/bales of Giovale extend from the bottom along at least a substantial portion of the perimeter as taught by Zock to provide additional stability.

With respect to claim 11, see Figures 17 and 18 for the inner edge and opening.

With respect to the carbon material, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the carbon material since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 12 is finally objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. Claims 13-14 and 17-24 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 and 7-24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
